This is it pilot. All those simulations prepared you for this very exact moment. The reset cataclysmic shockwave sent through space due to reasons we are still investigating has hurled essentially an entire asteroid belt your way. You will need to use your controls (Arrow Keys) to navigate this asteroid field and salvage the scraps and coins left behind from all the poor pilots it took out. You’ll need these valuables to afford gas once you’re out; navigating this will take almost all of it. Due to the shockwave causing timeslips in space, time will appear to slow down as well. Keep careful watch on any timers due to this.

Godspeed.