For those who don’t know; Tom Brady is the quarterback of the New England Patriots. He is already one of the best QB’s, if not the best QB, to ever play the game. But everyone’s body begins to break down at some point and even legends can use a little bit of help finishing off their last few seasons. I’m afraid Brady is nearing this point. Help Brady finish strong and rack up as many accolades as he can before his time is up.

Take Brady to each accolade by using the arrow keys. Try to collect them before the time is up. If you succeed you advance to a tougher round, try to complete as many rounds as you can and officially end the controversy of whether Brady is the best QB ever or not.