Total War

Backstory - The story behind this game is you are the general of an army and in charge of deploying your troops to the battle field. Be careful of the placement of your troops because after 10 battles between the enemy, the general with the most troops still alive wins!

Goal – Your goal is deploying your troops to the battle field and after 10 battles (generations of the game of life), the general with the most troops left standing wins.

How to Play – The player will add soldiers one by one until you have 10 soldiers on the battle field. After the 10 are added, the computer general will add 10 of their own soldiers.

- Use the mouse and left click in the grid to add your soldiers.
- After you add soldiers the game will go through 10 generations (battles). Whoever has the most soldiers at the end wins!
- The game is over when

Good luck general!
